Neutrality

The news by telegraph, given under the appropriate head this morning, in which is announced the destruction of the Anglo Rebel pirate Alabama, suggests a comparison between the professed and the practical neutrality of England and France in the great American rebellion According to the dispatch, before the Alabama left Cherbourg, all her stolen treasure, etc, obtained by a system of piracy, was left for safe keeping in the French town, and of course under the protection of the French authorities The protection of neither the French nor the English Government could well be extended over the pirate at the distance from shore where the battle occurred, but British vessels could be on hand to rescue the vanquished horde from the clutches of the United States after they had become, by every rule known to civilized nations, the lawful prisoners of the victorious ship. From the course pursued by the British Government toward the United States at all times, when the interest of the rebellion could be subserved, it is fair to presume that had the pirate Semmes been the conqueror, the remarkable degree of humanity noted in the dispatch would never have been exhibited by the gallant British "yacht" Semmes himself could have had the privilege of doing as he pleased with the Federal officers and crew of the Kearsarge, and would have found no obstacle to his ornamenting his British yard arms with their inanimate corpses, had he so pleased The neutrality of "perfidious Albion" had no doubt anticipated a somewhat different issue to the contest, and it would not be a matter of surprise to any one should it eventually transpire that the "yacht" which rescued Semmes and others was ballasted with coals, provisions, arms and ammunition for the Alabama, and that she had been on duty as well as the Kearsarge hoping to see the Stars and Stripes sink beneath the waves By what right an English vessels rescued the prisoners of a United States ship of war, we shall doubtless learn through diplomatic correspondence When Com. Wilkes seized the traitors Mason and Slidell on the British ship Trent, he was wrong and was so pronounced to be by the British authorities, and that decision was acquiesced in by our Government We presume that in this case, however, England will not see things in that light Mason and Slidell were passengers under the British flag, while the pirate Semmes was a prisoner under the flag of the United States—he having by his own admission surrendered by striking his colors. The farce of neutrality, by which almost the entire carrying trade previously enjoyed by the United States merchant marine was secured to British ships is being rapidly played out, and the curtain will soon fall upon the last scene of a thoroughly developed plot. The situation of affairs in our own country will soon enable us to look after our neutral neighbors across the Atlantic, and we believe the indignation of our people will be such that nothing short of fullest indemnity and restitution will save them from a well merited chastisement Their cupidity has outrun their discretion, but the game they have played will be unprofitable in the end.

The excitement in San Francisco upon the arrival of the long missing steamship Golden Age is represented as most intense. The people would not believe the reports until they had read upon the various bulletin boards the confirmation of her being off the Heads in tow of the Golden City The salutes to General McDowell, the future Commander of the Department of the Pacific, who was on board the Golden City, only served to increase the excitement, as Alcatraz, Fort Point and Angel Island bellowed forth the thundering welcome from their iron throats, and the rush and crowd in the vicinity of the landing is said to exceed anything of the kind before witnessed in the Bay City

EASTERN MAIL FROM WALLA WALLA —The first stage from Walla Walla for Salt Lake started on the 1st inst, with the expectation of making the trip through in ten days, and through to Atchison in twenty days The passage from Walla Walla to Atchison is expected to be about $150 We are glad to see these new mail stage routes established through the interior and overland, as thereby the country will become well known and speedily settled

A Petersburg, Virginia paper acknowledges that the Yankees fight with "nerve" The chivs, in consequence, are becoming very nervous

The San Francisco Grand Jury refused to indict Treackle for shooting Walsh of the Varieties.

HOMES FOR IMMIGRANTS —The vast army of immigrants now on the plains and wending towards the Pacific are represented as numbering sufficient to form a continuous procession of some four hundred miles in length The question of homes and supplies for families and food for the immense herds of cattle which this fall must live or die along the Pacific border, is too important to remain undecided for be settled without serious consideration It is very generally conceded on account of the distressing drouth in California, that no inducement can be held out for the settlement of the immigrants south of Oregon and therefore the bulk of these people must depend upon this State and our adjoining territories on the north and east for all the advantages to result from a location for the winter We have no cause of complaint on account of drouth and if ordinary care is taken, we can no doubt supply a fair amount of hay, grain and other food for stock The indications are that feed will bring a good price during the coming fall and winter let the season be never so mild, and hence we would advise our farmers to provide as large stocks as possible The Stockton Independent, apprehending distress among the immigrants who enter California this year, utters the following

The indications are that there will be an unusually large immigration overland to California this year, and it is with regret that we cannot congratulate ourselves upon that event as in years past We say this in view of the fact that inevitable famine and death threaten all the immigrant stock which shall be brought into the great valleys of the State during time between this and Winter! There are no the pastures in these valleys for even our own stock and private pastures for hay and grain will be entirely too costly for the generally limited means of immigrants Therefore if they bring their stock into the plains we can expect nothing else than they will all perish But it is upon this stock that nine tenths of the best immigrants must rely for a living through their first year's residence in California Losing that, they are beggared, but especially as this season of scarcity hard times, and lack of employment for laborers For these reasons the press and people of the State should unite in doing whatever can be done to stop the immigrants who have cattle and live only in the mountains where pasture is good and abundant, until their stock is recuperated, and some provision for their subsistence can be found within the valleys and plains We want immigration, but we should be much to blame to invite it under such and conditions as to make the general indigence of the strangers almost inevitable Under the very best circumstances to be expected this year we do not see how the State can well avoid the responsibility of making some provision for the care of immigrants if their numbers should prove to be anything like what they are now represented, unless indeed, by far the greatest part of them stop in Idaho, Utah and Nevada Territories

WILLAMETTE BAPTIST ASSOCIATION —At a meeting of the above Association held at Oregon City, last week, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted, and transmitted to us for publication

WHEREAS Our beloved country is still desolated by war and sorely troubled by the rebellious and needs the sympathies and prayers of all Christians of whatever name therefore

Resolved, That we, as Christians, desire thus publicly to record—

1st Our gratitude to God for His favor shown in the victories of our armies, in the reduction of the area of the rebellion, in the enlargement of the borders of freedom, and in the prevention of foreign intervention

2d, Our sympathies with the authorities of our Government in their efforts to suppress rebellion and with all who have gone forth to battle for our country

3d Our firm trust in God for the final triumph of right, the establishment and perpetuity of our Nation and the destruction of oppression in all the ——

4th, Our humble prayers that Divine guidance may be vouchsafed to our rulers and that all our troubles and afflictions may result in the purification of the Nation and the Glory of God

SANITARY COMMISSION —We have received from Dr H W Bellows a succinct narrative of the works and purposes of the Sanitary Commission of the United States Army It is a well printed volume of over 300 pages, and contains a large amount of pertinent matter which can be read profitably by all classes of people No American will peruse it without feeling a grateful pride at the thought that he is living in a generation and is one of a people of such noble impulses We commend it especially to Copperheads, and considers it a certain antidote for the poison from which what little mind they have left is suffering? It is published for the benefit of the Commission, and we hope it may prove a benefit for exceeding the bounds of the publishers' most sanguine anticipations.

Stories have been set afloat that A J Butler, of this State, who lately died in New York, left an estate of $2,000,000 The executor makes oath in Court that it does not exceed $200 000 Quite a difference between Copperheadlies and sworn truth —Sacramento Ber

Will those Copperhead sheets in Oregon, which have made so much capital out of the falsehood, that the deceased brother of Gen Butler stole $2,000,000 from Government at New Orleans, ease their chances for a hereafter by publishing the above correction?

The Russian fleet that have been in San Francisco harbor for months past left Wednesday morning, June 29th The Bogatyre, Admiral Popoff comanding, left for the South Pacific, and the rest of the fleet left for Honolulu Charles Schultz, a well known musician and fireman, goes with the Admiral as a guest

The Confederate publishing house of Kelly & Piet, of Baltimore, has been closed by the military authorities, and the proprietors sent to Fort Lafayette

There are now five million pounds of coffee in store in San Francisco, so it is said—over ten pounds for each individual in the State Coffee should be cheap

Mr Hughes, of San Francisco is making a $600 billiard table for presentation to the Sanitary Fair to be held in that city

Nearly fifty thousand acres of land in Canada have been sown with flax this year—ten times as much as last year

The St Louis Democrat the leading radical paper in Missouri refuses to endorse the Cleveland Convention candidates

Ohio and California are the great wine producing States so far In 1860 Ohio produced 562 040 gallons, and California 434,915

LOUISVILLE, July 1 —The Government warehouse and adjoining buildings were burned this morning Loss about 1,500,000 It is supposed to have been the work of incendiaries

NEW YORK, July 3 —A dispatch from headquarters records the return of Gen Kautz, with the loss of many men, horses 12 guns and his wagon train but the expedition was successful in the destruction of the Danville and Weldon Railroad, mills and an immense amount of other property On returning they were overwhelmingly attacked by Fitzhugh Lee and Hampton's cavalry and infantry Kautz repulsed them several times, but was finally surrounded. His retreat was made through almost impenetrable swamps His guns were spiked and wagons burned It is reported the 6th corps afterwards attacked the rebels and recaptured eight guns.

The steamers Lamar and Peter Matthews collided on the 22d, between Burrogate and Absom Lights The former sunk and 18 persons are supposed to be lost.

The Fulton from Port Royal, the 30th ult., reports all quiet Secessionville was vigorously shelled by our forces last week

Five rebel Generals and 45 field officers arrived on the 29th and were sent to the front under the rebel batteries in retaliation for Union officers similarly placed in Charleston

It was reported at Hilton Head, June 26th that Admiral Dahlgreen had received information that the Alabama with other privateers are to be expected soon off that coast. [A part of the report was here lost by the operator] The monitor Sahant and five gunboats have joined the fleet off Charleston Our batteries continue to shell Charleston There are four rebel rams now in Charleston harbor and two more are nearly completed

WASHINGTON, June 4 —Both houses have passed an amendment to the Conscription Act, which only requires the signature of the President to become a law The $300 commutation clause is repealed Volunteers are allowed a bounty of $300 for one year Fifty days notice is required before any draft can be enforced Substitutes are allowed to be procured by drafted persons neither of whom are entitled to receive bounty

BALTIMORE, July 3 —Three heavy columns of the rebels attacked Martinsburg this morning Sigel fought them several hours, but yielding to superior numbers evacuated Martinsburg, saving all the movable property The enemy came from Old North Mountain, with the evident intention of flanking our forces, in which they failed Shots have fallen back to Harper's Ferry and holds a strong position on Maryland heights

The President signed the tariff bill to-night and it goes into effect to morrow

The Senate bill concerning the Continental Telegraph was concurred in by the House to day The bill declares that it will be unlawful to contract with any newspaper association for the transmission of news on any terms different from those open to all newspapers

The Senate Finance Committee after a long consultation, accepted Chase's resignation There is much speculation concerning the reason of Chase's resignation Many contradictory reports are in circulation, but the direct cause is believed to be a conflict of opinion between the President and Chase upon the appointment of Assistant Secretary Harrington, who was at the Department to day acting as Secretary of the Treasury

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 —The Enquirer's special says much excitement exists at Gettysburg and the country south of Harrisburg, in consequence of rumors of a large body of rebels are making a raid into Maryland and Southern Pennsylvania

MEETING OF THE COMMON COUNCIL.—The weekly meeting of the Board of Councilmen was held at the Council Chamber last evening. In the absence of President McCraken, Councilman Harrison was called to the chair

The following members were present Councilmen Cook, Frazer, Gradon, Hurgren, Robertson

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved by the Council

A petition from O D Buck, asking the privilege to use a portion of Washington street for business purposes, 30 days was granted. Also a like petition was granted to G W Vaughn, for a portion of Front street

A very extended report was received from [illegible] Walters setting forth losses sustained by him on account of failures, on the part of the city, to comply with contracts made with him since the year 1860 when the construction of Willamette Engine House was entered upon accompanied by a petition for relief After some argument, the whole subject was referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses

Councilman McCraken entered and took his seat as President.

A communication was received from the President of the Portland Water Company, stating that on April 1st, 1862, water for the fire cisterns and Engine Houses of the city, had been furnished without remuneration, but in view of the large outlay necessary to supply the increasing demands of the city with pure water, it was thought proper to hold a conference upon the question with members of the Council, to perfect a permanent arrangement for future supplies and decide about compensation for the past The communication was referred to the committee on fire and water.

A report from Chief Engineer Buchtel, showing the favorable condition of the Fire Department, was full, was received and referred to the committee on fire and water

Reports of the City Collector and City Treasurer, together with the accounts of each officer's commission and fees, were read and referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses

The City Attorney submitted a report as required upon the subject of dance houses, and an ordinance relative to the same Report accepted and ordinance referred to judiciary committee

A number of bills against the city were read, and referred to the appropriate committees, and the following ordered to be paid N Northrup $15, Buchtel $75 Milwaine & Morse, $30 50, Gates $169 75 R Pittock $40, Wiel Bros. $40.

OUR COUNTY ROADS —We know of no subject connected with the interests of our city, on which more may be profitably said than our county roads Much has been said by us all in relation to the condition of our streets, and it may with strict propriety be applied to the subject of our roads We would be difficult to find a county where less attention has been paid to such a question, and still we would scarcely be the task is of easy accomplishment and good roads as readily attained, if we would but for what we are entitled to and help ourselves we duty requires it. Our laws are not adequate enough [illegible] very much to be revised and improved and we hope earnestly that those whose duty it is to attend to the matter will make known to the Representatives what is required in order that they may obtain the benefits of legislation The city [illegible] and and be county of Multnomah, must [illegible] demand much from the coming session [illegible] and the present question is none [illegible] least importance It is winter when the farmer [illegible] brings the best prices, and much that [illegible] is not ready for market until after the rains commences, and yet, by our winter roads [illegible] a few miles from the city, it is more than [illegible] is worth to bring it to market. [illegible] but we have a newly settled county, [illegible] and the present session is none [illegible] may be also said that [illegible] with all the difficulties [illegible] from our long rainy season [illegible] a heavy tax upon us, but we [illegible] and more improved access [illegible] season justify the outlay [illegible] think it would, and for [illegible] the benefit could [illegible] would take a hand, [illegible] be forward in the enterprise.

A CURIOUS PATRON —It is not often in the days of progression, and historical examples the absorption of race, that we receive "calls" from Celestial visitors at our office, but however rare, they do occur sometimes, and whether the superiority of the type of a messenger is to be acknowledged or not we have an instance which goes to show that John has caught the spirit of the age and is marching [illegible] Yesterday morning Ye Goong accompanied by one of our prominent citizens, came to our sanctum, and after being introduced, very [illegible] proceeded business requesting his advertisement to be placed in his Ten Score, on Alder street, in this city The request was not stultified with any disposition to dispute about the terms, as might have been expected, and John departed as he came, with a smile on his countenance, leaving us to acknowledge that he, at least, was becoming Americanized, and had an appreciation of the services of the press.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT —The second trial in the case of the United States ex Edward Tichnor was concluded last evening, the jury returning a verdict of guilty, on both counts in the indictment, and assessing the value of the lumber out from the public lands at $6 250 The case of Jenkins, Greene & Rhodes ex the schooner Jenny Jones, for the recovery of the value of certain merchandise, thrown overboard on Peacock Spit, was being argued last night To day the case of the Monticello and Cathlamet Landing Steamboat Company ex the steamboat Senator, for damages to the steamer Rescue, in the late collision of those boats, on the way to Oregon City, will occupy the attention of the Court.

A MAN IN JAIL —Deputy Sheriff Arnold surprised us yesterday morning, by telling us that he had a man in jail, and it was a case so rare that we immediately applied for admission, to see what kind of a man it could be, that would so infringe upon the good order and quiet of Multnomah county, as to call for the officers to break the spell, and lock him up Before gaining admittance, however the decision vanished, and we were informed that the man was employed there in white washing for pay, and would be at liberty in a brief space of time We withdrew

THE CITY WATER WORKS.—The mountain stream at the south west extremity of this city, having in measure failed to supply the demands for water in the upper ward, the Water Company have renewed the operation of pumping from the Willamette for temporary supply in that section The engine used is the same that was landed on the spot, near the Penitentiary, during the high water of 1862 It has been kept in good order, for emergencies like the present, but has been unemployed for a year past

THE SANITARY RECEIPTS —The sale of the roosters by Mr Mansfield, donated for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission, will occur to day at half past two o'clock, in front of the Dennison House It will be presented untrammeled to admit of a lucrow every time the Auctioneer shall cry down, and if the rooster don't crow, it will

OUR COUNTY ROADS.—We know of no subject connected with the interests of our city, on which more may be profitably said than our county roads. Much has been said by us all in relation to the bad condition of our streets, and it may with strict propriety be applied to the subject of our roads. It would be difficult to find a county where less attention has been paid, to such a question, and still it would seem that the task is of easy accomplishment and good roads as readily attained if we would ask for what we are entitled to, and help ourselves when duty requires it. Our laws are not adequate enough, they need very much to be revised and improved, and we hope earnestly that those whose duty it is to attend to the matter, will make known to our Representatives what is required, in order that we may obtain the benefits of legislation. The city of Portland, and the county of Multnomah, must necessarily demand much from the coming session of the legislature, and the present question is none of the least importance. It is winter when the farmer's produce brings the best prices, and much that he produces is not ready for market until after the rainy season commences and yet, by our wider roads if he lives a few miles from the city, it is more than the produce is worth to bring it to market. It is very true that we have a newly settled county, and it may be, sparsely settled at that, but we are very rapidly filling it up. It may be also said that to keep our roads in repairs, with all the difficulties we are forced to encounter, from our long rainy seasons, etc, would be a heavy tax upon us, but we ask, would not an easier and more improved access to market, in the winter season, justify the outlay for such improvements? We think it would, and further we have an opinion that the benefit could be [illegible], if our merchants would take a hand, and assist the farmer in the enterprise.

A CELESTIAL PATRON.—It is not often in these days of miscegenation, and historical examples of the absorption of races, that we receive "calls" from Celestial visitors at our office, but however rare, they do occur sometimes, and whether the superiority of the type of a miscegen is to be acknowledged or not, we have an instance which goes to show that John has caught the spirit of the age, and is marching on with the van. Yee Goong accompanied by one of our prominent citizens, came to our sactum and after being introduced, very tately proceeded to business requesting his advertisement to be placed in our columns and the DAILY OREGONIAN to be left at his Tea Store, on Alder street, in this city. The request was not multified with any disposition to dispute about the terms, as might have been expected, and John departed as he came, with a smile on his countenance, leaving us to acknowledge that he, at least, was becoming Americanized, and felt an appreciation of the services of the press.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT.—The second trial in the case of the United States vs Edward Tichnor was concluded last evening, the jury returning a verdict of guilty, on both counts in the indictment, and assessing the value of the lumber cut from the public lands at $6,250. The case of Jonitow, Green & Rhodes vs the schooner Jenny Jones, for the recovery of the value of certain merchandise, thrown overboard on Peacock Spit, was being argued last night. To-day the case of the Monticello and Cowlitz Landing Steamboat Company vs the steamboat Governor, for damages to the steamer Hercue in the late collision of those boats, on the way to Oregon City, will occupy the attention of the Court.

A MAN IN JAIL.—Deputy Sheriff Arnold surprised us yesterday morning by telling us that he had a man in jail, and it was a case so rare that we immediately applied for admission, to see what kind of a man it could be, that would so infringe upon the good order and quiet of Multnomah county, compelling the officers to break the spell and lock him up. Before gaining admittance, however the delinquent vanished, and we were informed that the man was employed there in white washing for pay and would be at liberty in a brief space of time. We withdrew.

THE CITY WATER WORKS.—The mountain stream, at the south west extremity of this city, having in a measure failed to supply the demands for water in the upper ward, the Water Company have renewed the operation of pumping from the Willamette for a temporary supply in that section. The engine in use is the same that was landed on the spot, near the Penitentiary, during the high water of 1862. It has been kept in good order, for emergencies like the present, but has been unemployed for a year past.

THE SANITARY ROOSTER.—The sale of the rooster, by Mr Mansfield, donated for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission, will occur to day at half past two o'clock, in front of the Dennison House. It will be presented untrammeled, to admit of a lively crow every time the Auctioneer's hammer shall come down, and if the rooster don't crow it will not be because he can't. He is a majestic species of the domestic fowl.

MACHINES FOR THE FARMERS.—The farmers of Oregon begin to see that good machinery for cutting and harvesting their crops, is as essential to the profits of their farms as the plow, and are investing largely in them. A fine threshing machine was taken from this city for Marion county, yesterday, by Samuel Brown, of Belpassi.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Three persons were arraigned before the Recorder yesterday charged with riotous, violent and disorderly conduct. They were each found guilty, and disgorged to the amount of $25 and costs.

COMMISSIONER'S MEETING.—The County Commissioners will resume their session this morning. A part of yesterday was consumed by their deliberations. We will give the result of their labors at the closing of the term.

THANKS.—S J McCormick has our thanks for New York papers, Godey's, and other magazines, also a supply of late papers, received overland last evening. He has a large assortment, at the Franklin Book Store.

SUMMER HOUSE ON CLATSOP BEACH.—This delightful watering place situated near Tillamook Head, about fifteen miles south from the mouth of the Columbia river is easy of access to passengers by steamer from Astoria and is unsurpassed by any resort on the Pacific coast. Passengers to Skipanon where there is a two hours ride by stage will find good carriages and fine horses at reasonable charges. The groves and surroundings are unsurpassed and the climate salubrious. Few sick have ever visited this place without immediately being benefitted. The table is kept as well as any in the State, its table excelling in variety and cooking. Elk bear deer and smaller game abound. Fresh fish of every kind, fresh salmon and salmon trout taken fresh from a trap as a part of the table. Crabs clams and other shell fish abound on the beach. A magnificent mountain stream runs right by the house where lovers of delightful sport of angling can try their skill and test their hearts content. Berries of all kinds abound on the premises. No one will have any cause to regret ever visiting this delightful place.

TOO EXPENSIVE TO LAST LONG.—A gentleman apparently a stranger stepped into the office of Mr Lachenbruch's business last evening, which at present is very tastily arranged for a new set of carpeting furniture etc and after looking about in a puzzled manner as if an establishment that was [illegible] for such a Mr Lachenbruch is an Astor of House! Well, replied the man, all I have to say is that I think it will be expensively furnished for a long time. As I walked in and looked around I sprang to his feet. So I did and it shall be sold out on first day I can stand this expense! In accordance with his determination see advertisement.

NEW FIRM.—The Young America Clothing Store has become one of the institutions of Portland and the new firm of J Cohn & Co takes the preference. These gentlemen are successors to Pierson & Co in the clothing department of the establishment No 86 Front street corner of Washington and they have a very desirable assortment.

At a meeting of the Portland Hibernian Association held in the city of Portland on Wednesday evening July 6th a Committee consisting of A M Sharkey T Rogers and A Mellin was appointed to draft resolutions expressing the thanks of the Association for kindness and favors extended and not rendered from what ever quarter the 4th of July 1864 which committee reported the following resolutions which were unanimously adopted, to wit:

Resolved That the thanks of the Portland Hibernian Association be and they are hereby tendered to Judge Kilpatrick Capts Owen H pkins and Porter and the officers of the day also to Prof D Potter Marshal Troupe and to the citizens generally of Vancouver also to the Vancouver Hibernian Association for their kind reception and hospitalities extended to us, and especially to the Ladies of Vancouver for their generosity and attention.

And be it further Resolved, That the thanks of the Association be tendered Capt Turnbull for the special favor of a free passage to and from Vancouver and to Colonel Wiley Jos Buchtel and members of the Portland Fire Department for escort up the Columbia river and from Vancouver for which we acknowledge ourselves under renewed obligations.

Resolved That a copy of these resolutions be published in the DAILY OREGONIAN.

Complaints of Children—In the case of fast growing and scrofulous children predisposed to consumptures and other deformities it is often disagreeable to give a tonic without stimulants and an alterative without irritation. For such it would be impossible to select a preparation combining so many of the above advantages as the PERUVIAN SYRUP.

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.—The operation of this palatable remedy upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties and it is recommended to mothers, enfeebled by the cares and duties of maternity as the safest and best tonic they can probably use. In all the crisis of female life it will be found eminently useful and elderly persons will derive much more benefit from it than from ordinary stimulants.—Sold by all Druggists and Dealers every where. ap20dlm

Coughs and Colds.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY BRONCHIAL and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that a simple remedies often act speedily when taken in the early stages of the disease recourse should at once be had to Brown's Bronchial Troches or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. PUBLIC SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. Soldiers should have them as they can be carried in the pocket and taken as occasion requires.

A Scouting Adventure.

A soldier belonging to a Michigan regiment joined a small circle of the Zouaves seated around a picket fire, and related the following incident:

One night, said he, during that affair of "the seven days on the Peninsula," I found myself forming one of a scouting party of eight men who had been selected from our company and placed under the command of Harold Mertoun, the first lieutenant. Having examined our locks to make sure that they were in good order, we moved rapidly but silently forward, and in a short time had left the remainder of the regiment far behind us in the corn field where they had halted to pass the night.

Marching onward with undiminished speed—for there was a clear moon shining at the time, enabling us to see our way without difficulty—we were presently obliged to enter a pine forest. Of course we were then compelled to slacken our pace and form in single file; and being the tallest of the number, my place was at the head of the line. It was owing to this fact that, after we had picked our way through the darkness for about a mile, I was the first to perceive the gleaming of a bayonet a short distance in advance of us, and I felt pretty certain that I could also make out a gray jacket and a butternut cap.

I noticed the lieutenant, whereupon, he whispered the word "Halt!" and then cautiously crept forward upon his hands and knees—gradually disappearing among the shadow beyond.

Seating ourselves upon the ground we awaited his return in breathless silence, but as minute after minute passed away and he did not make his appearance, we began to think that he had fallen into a trap—that he had been taken prisoner by the enemy. One of the men now whispered that he was sure he had heard a slight noise shortly after the lieutenant left us, like that of a brief scuffle; but as neither of the rest of the party had heard the sound, it was generally believed that our comrade had been deceived by the rustling of the branches over his head. Still this opinion did not serve to lessen our anxiety in behalf of the young officer. We knew that he might have fallen into the hands of the rebels while too far from his party for any warning of his capture to reach our ears. He could not make himself heard at a distance exceeding fifty yards on account of a sore throat, with which he had recently been troubled, and which rendered it difficult for him to speak. As the period of his absence continued to lengthen our alarm increased, and we rose to our feet several times, peering forward into the gloom, where we hoped to get a glimpse of his returning figure. But nothing met our gaze except the faint outlines of the trees, and, far in the distance, the broad strip of moonlight which had enabled me to see the bayonet of the rebel sentinel, and which proclaimed that there was an open space of ground in that quarter, though whether it was a road or a lane we could not determine. But the bayonet was no longer to be seen—a circumstance which was well calculated to strengthen our suspicions regarding the fate of Mertoun.

Suddenly, we heard a noise like that of approaching footsteps. It grew more distinct every moment, and we were at last enabled to partly distinguish a dark body moving slowly toward us.

"All right," whispered our sergeant, "it's the lieutenant!"

At these words we could scarcely smother our expressions of joy, for the tried courage and the frank, easy manners of the young officer had made him a great favorite with all.

But our pleasure was of short duration; for, as the object that we had taken for the crouching form of the lieutenant drew nearer, we perceived that is was a large black hog, which, with protruded snout and curling tail, now grunted forth its complaints to us for invading its premises.

"Boys," muttered the sergeant, "I can't stand this suspense any longer. We must go forward, and find out what has become of Mertoun."

This proposal was met with unanimous approval, and we had already commenced to steal cautiously along the ground, when the sergeant suddenly raised his hand as an intimation to halt.

We obeyed, and at the same instant, by peering among the shadows ahead, we could perceive a second figure, a short distance behind that of the hog, advancing slowly toward us. Although the grunting animal turned aside and walked off, the next moment, our view of the approaching figure was still obstructed by the darkness and the trunks of the trees.

We saw clearly enough, however, to feel convinced that the form which now attracted our attention was that of a human being crawling along upon his hands and knees; and, as he continued to shorten the distance between us, the gleam of a row of army buttons became perceptible.

"At last!" exclaimed the sergeant, unable to conceal his joy. "Here he is, at last!"

"Hush!" came in a distinct whisper from his superior in rank, as, having by this time gained a position within about five yards of us, he suddenly stopped and raised his hand. "Hush! keep yourselves as still as mice and follow me! There are plenty of rebels ahead, and I'm determined that we shall have one shot at 'em, if we can do no more!"

With these words he turned, and, motioning us to "come on," crept swiftly and silently forward.

Holding our rifles so that we might use them at a moment's notice, we obeyed his order, keeping as near to his person as possible; but he moved so fast that we found that we could not close up the five or six yards which he seemed determined should intervene between himself and his party.

He led us a long distance, and with an eager haste which to me seemed very incautious under the circumstances, especially as we occasionally encountered clumps of bushes through which it was impossible to move swiftly without making considerable noise.

Our activity soon brought us near enough to the place where I had seen the bayonet, to enable us to perceive that the opening was caused by a road, which, lighted by the clear rays of the moon, gleamed like a broad white belt among the surrounding shadows. A number of tall clumps of shrubbery through which we had recently passed, had prevented us from seeing it before, although the screen had not served to hide the bright steel appendage to the rebel's rifle.

It was now a matter of surprise to me that our leader, instead of ordering a halt, continued to hurry on toward the road, now and then turning around and beckoning energetically to us to hasten our movements. I could perceive by the way my comrades looked at each other, that they were impressed with feelings similar to my own; in a word, that they did not know what to make of the singular and unreasonable impetuosity of one officer.

Nevertheless, we followed him as fast as we could, and in a few moments we saw him leap into the road, were he halted abruptly, keeping his head turned away from us until we had gained his side. Then springing to his feet and raising his cap, which had hitherto been slouched over his face, he shouted in a voice that thrilled to the hearts of us all:

"This way, men! They are ours!"

His word were answered with a sudden wild, exultant yell, and at the same moment a mass of shrubbery on the other side of the road parted before the forms of more than thirty rebels, who surrounded us in an instant, pointing their rifles at our heads.

"Surrender! Surrender! you Yankee rascals!" exclaimed the officer, turning toward us a face which, as we could distinctly see by the light of the moon, bore no resemblance to that of Mertoun. "Surrender! You are fairly trapped—every man of you. Your lieutenant is already in our hands!"

Well, comrades, resistance in this case was out of the question, and our sergeant turned to us, and with a very ill grace, ordered us to give up our arms. I could perceive that he was in a towering rage about the deception that had been practised upon us, and I believe that, had we numbered six additional men, he would have given the word for us to fight our way through.

As I was about to stack my piece with the rest, he gave me a peculiar look at the same time winking with his left eye in a manner that enabled me to understand his meaning at once, which was that I should take to my heels and make my way to the camp, so as to inform the regiment of the near vicinity of the rebels. At first it puzzled me to determine why he had selected me for this task, as I was not half so robust or active as either of my companions. But upon throwing a glance over my shoulder, in which direction I now perceived that the eyes of the sergeant were steadily fixed, the reason of his choice was made sufficiently plain; for while the rest of my companions were closely surrounded by the rebels, my person was guarded by only two men, who stood behind me, leaning upon their rifles, and so far apart that there was a wide interval between them. No sooner did I perceive this state of affairs than I resolved to act upon the hint I had received.

With a sudden, quick bound I dashed between the two men and plunged into the woods.

A storms of bullets whistled past my ears, followed by the shouts, curses and yells of a few of the rebels who had evidently rushed after me.

But mustering all my strength, I hurried on, and in a short time became convinced that my enemies had abandoned the pursuit. I did not slacken my pace, however, until I had emerged from the forest, and then only long enough to obtain a short breathing spell.

And now, comrades, I have but little more to say. I gained my regiment in less than an hour, and as soon as I had communicated to the colonel what had taken place, he sprang upon his horse and formed the men into marching order at once.

The command to move forward was passed down the column, and we started.

Advancing by a roundabout way, we burst unexpectedly upon a few rebel pickets, drove them before us, and pushing rapidly on, charged into the camp, routing the enemy after a short but desperate conflict.

We were presently joined by Lieutenant Mertoun and the rest of the scouting party, who had been confined by their capture in an old wooden house upon the left of the camp.

DYSPEPSIA,

Affections of the Liver, Dropsy, Neuralgia, Bronchitis and Consumptive Tendencies, Disordered State of the Blood, Female Complaints, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Scurvy, the prostrating effects of Lead or Mercury,

GENERAL DEBILITY,

and all Diseases which require a

Tonic and Alterative Medicine.

THE PROOFS OF ITS EFFICACY are so numerous, so well ascertained, and of such peculiar character, that reasonable cannot reasonably hesitate to receive the proffered aid.

The class of diseases for which the Syrup provides a cure, is precisely that which has so often baffled the highest order of medical skill. This fact is one tangible, unanswerable argument, and the safety and efficacy of this Syrup incontrovertible.

From well-known Citizens of Boston.

The undersigned having experienced the beneficial effects of the "Peruvian Syrup," do not hesitate to recommend it to the attention of the public.

Rev. JOHN PIERPONT, THOMAS C. AMORY, THOMAS A. DEXTER, PETER HARVEY, S. H. KENDALL, M D, JAMES C. DUNN, SAMUEL MAY, Rev. THOS. WHITTEMORE.

Certificate of Dr. Hayes.

It is well known that the medicinal effect of Protoxide of Iron is lost by even a very brief exposure to air, and that to maintain a solution of Protoxide of Iron, without further oxidation, has been deemed impossible.

In the Peruvian Syrup, this desirable point is attained by combination in a way before unknown; and the solution may replace all the proto carbonates, citrates and tartrates of the Materia Medica. A. A. HAYES, M.D.

IODINE WATER.

IODINE WATER IS THE MOST IMPORTANT DISCOVERY of modern chemistry, and it is impossible to over-estimate its influence as a remedial agent. Iodine has been considered the most useful article in Materia Medica, and many of the most scientific and practical chemists and physicians have investigated its effects upon the human system. It is to act upon the

HEART, LIVER, KIDNEYS, DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM,

and to have great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

Notwithstanding the zeal and ability which have been devoted to its investigation, it remained almost useless until Dr Henry Anders, a physician and chemist of New York, after years of patient labor and experiment, discovered a chemical process which enabled him to dissolve without a solvent. This, considered impossible by the scientific world, is attested by certificates of analysis from Dr. J. R. Chilton of this city, and Prof. Booth, U. S. Mint, Philadelphia. The importance of this discovery was so highly appreciated by the Faculty that it was published in the Medical Journals, and its use recommended to practitioners (see "American Medical Monthly," July 6, 1856, page 76.)

PURE IODINE IN PURE WATER,

This valuable medicine is now available to the public for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Dyspepsia, Bronchitis, etc.

AS A TONIC

Its operation is evinced by strengthening the digestive organs and increased nutrition of the body as the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

Full directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Druggists. Price, $1 per bottle. Prepared by Dr H. Anders & Co, Physicians and Chemists, New York.

HOSTETTER'S

STOMACH BITTERS.

THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is singularly soothing and conservative. It regulates, recruits and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its control and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.

Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious blood, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Here the victim of dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every relaxed nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.

The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has just been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A word to the Aged.

In the decline of life the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females.

Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It corrects and enlightens the depressed mental powers, as well as all conditions the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS

Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,

GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS attended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable one ever discovered. No language can convey in a popular idea of its immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivalled as a remedy for the permanent cure for the maladies above-mentioned, and also

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY, LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION,
INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR, ALBUS.

And in every disease any way connected with the disorder or decay of the PROCREATIVE FUNCTIONS. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the
